

Étreinte de Deux

We live in moments,
Where all the world is silent with wonder Where all youthfulness and joy
Flows across our closed eyes;
Where in these fleeting moments
A million thoughts and sensations fly by

Our minds go numb with pleasure,
As newfound life takes over two souls
In each-other there is bliss, freedom, and completeness only we know;
And all this fleeting pleasure created with innocent heart, only does end when our lips do part